Heilungkiang Leader Urges Chinese Leaders to Back Movement

Tientsin, China.—(AP)—Bursts of machine gun fire crackled on the western outskirts of the city just before midnight and it appeared that yesterday's fighting between Chinese police and a rebel force had been renewed.

Tokio.—(AP)—Vernacular newspapers and press dispatches tonight said General Mah Chan-Shan of Heilungkiang province had issued a manifesto to the Chinese nation declaring war upon Japan.

Heilungkiang, in northern Manchuria, has been cut off by the Japanese occupation from the rest of China.

There was no indication in the dispatches that the warring government was involved in the manifesto. It was brought out, however, that General Mah had telegraphed to Chinese nationalist and Manchurian leaders in Peking asking them to order mobilization at Tientsin, Heilungkiang capital, of troops of Kirin Province, to assist him in his contemplated fight against Japan.

The war office was informed 8,000 Chinese troops are being concentrated south of Tientsin.

Unsettled tonight, saying the Chinese General Mah Chan-Shan had declared war on Japan and was bombarding the Japanese position at Tientsin, Manchuria, stirred Tokyo today.

The Japanese government decided to reinforce its troops in the new battle area. It also prepared a sharp reply to the latest league of nations note and framed an answer to the American government's recent communications regarding the situation.

Riots broke out in Tientsin, North China. Chinese charged the trouble was instigated by Japanese, and that the Japanese had bombarded the native part of the city with 40 shells. Foreign guard units at Tientsin, including the Fifteenth United States Infantry, were called out to protect the foreign section. One Japanese soldier was reported killed by a stray bullet.

Suggestions that other powers withdraw their diplomatic representatives from Tokyo as a means of lending force to the league of nations' stand were branded by Japanese authorities as "diplomatic intimidation" and as nonsensical propaganda. The Japanese note was expected to protest against the suggestion coming from circles of the league secretariat and also against the league "becoming a propaganda bureau for the Chinese government."

Japanese sources said the separatist organization called the peace preservation society would set up an independent Chinese provincial government at Mukden tomorrow.

Tokio.—(AP)—Reports that the Chinese General Mah Chan-Shan had declared war against Japan and actually opened hostilities by bombarding the position at Tientsin, Manchuria, where he was defeated in sharp fighting last week, filled Tokyo newspapers today.

Both reports lacked confirmation in official quarters. The first of these came to the newspaper Nishi Nishi from Mukden.

Shortly afterward Tokyo was informed by an extra edition of the newspaper Asahi, announcing General Mah, head of the Heilungkiang province army which was routed by a smaller force of Japanese troops

Man, Woman Killed When Plane Falls

Milwaukee.—(AP)—An amateur flying enthusiast, Conrad Dickinson, 27, and his passenger, Miss Ethel Galligan, 27, both of Milwaukee, were killed last yesterday when a monoplane, piloted by Dickinson, crashed shortly after taking off from the Curtiss Wright flying field, west of the city.

The plane fell about 70 yards from the porch of the John Schoultz farm residence where the farmer, his wife, two children and a friend were seated. Both occupants were dead when removed from the wreckage.

Witnesses told deputy sheriffs the plane was flying at a low altitude and that Dickinson had waved to the group seated on the porch a few moments before the plane went out of control. Coroner Henry Grundman and C. F. LaLassaux, federal inspector of aeronautics, were investigating.

Dickinson, a restaurant proprietor, obtained his private pilot's license recently. He is survived by his widow and two sons.

Miss Galligan, a local newspaper employee, had gone to the airport for the flight which was arranged by Lester Bellamy, 32, a logger at the Galligan home. She was accompanied by Bellamy and her mother, both of whom intended to make flights after the girl returned.

"Well, now for a ride of death," Bellamy said Miss Galligan jokingly remarked as she settled into the cockpit fifteen minutes later airport attaches received word of the crash.

Two Others Injured in Collision on Highway in Pennsylvania

Norristown, Pa.—(AP)—Five persons, four of them members of the same family, were killed and two others were seriously injured early today when a heavy express truck collided with their automobile on Ridge Pike, about one mile south of here.

The dead were: Peter Pollnik, 50; his wife, Anna, 49, their two children, Harry, 17, and Susanna, 4, of Edgewater, N. J., and Stephen Lucash, 17, of Union City, N. J.

All were passengers in an automobile driven by George Roden, 22, of Union City. Roden and his wife, Anna, a daughter of the Pollniks, were brought to a hospital here. Physicians said the woman was suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries. Roden was less seriously hurt.

The truck owned by the McDowell Express company of Pottsville, Pa., is used in express freight service between Philadelphia and Hazelton, Pa. The driver James Lamb, escaped injury. He was arrested pending the outcome of an investigation.

Seven hours after the accident, Mrs. Roden gave birth to a baby boy. Physicians said they did not expect mother or child to live.

Winkler Offers To Trade $600,000 In Stolen Bonds For Freedom From Charges

Lincoln, Neb.—(AP)—State Attorney General C. A. Sorensen today said August "Gus" Winkler, a lieutenant of Al Capone, Chicago gangster, has offered to buy $600,000 worth of bonds which were stolen in the $2,500,000 Lincoln National Bank and Trust company robbery and return them if a bank robbery charge against him is dismissed.

The attorney general was informed that Winkler and his friends will pay $75,000 for the bonds and hand them over to the bank if the charge is dropped. He now is under $100,000 bond pending trial for the robbery.

Phil D'Andrea, bodyguard of Capone and now under a six months jail sentence for carrying a concealed weapon visited Winkler while he was in jail here and apparently arranged the transaction.

Sorensen said Winkler denied participation in the robbery but had located the bonds through the Chicago gangster organization. The names of those holding the bonds and of Winkler's friends were not revealed by authorities here.

County Attorney Max G. Towle has frowned on Winkler's offer, but withheld his final decision for several days. In the meantime, he said he would let out of the city on a business trip.

Winkler is charged with the $2,500,000 robbery of the Lincoln National Bank and Trust company Sept. 17, 1931. Towle said several persons had urged him to reject Winkler's offer.

Sorensen said the gangster and his friends had offered to pay $150,000 of their own money for the securities and return them to the bank if the charge is dropped. The offer included all but $30,000 of the negotiable paper taken in the robbery. Winkler denies participation in the robbery but told officers he knew where the bonds are and could buy them. He is under $100,000 bond pending his trial here.

Gov. Charles W. Bryan believes the state of Nebraska should make no compromise with Winkler.

The governor said the state has been humiliated by the overtaking of the head man of the highway gang to escape punishment by returning part of the loot.

Question Abili

Sorensen said that if Winkler's alibi is sustained by an investigation he should not be prosecuted but it is the least bit shaky, the state should prosecute him, bonds or no bonds.

"It is the duty of the state," Sorensen said, "to prove Winkler is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, but I'm old-fashioned enough to believe even a hoodlum or a gangster should have a fair trial. He should not be sent to prison on suspicion. I want the law enforced so that even hoodlums will have respect for the courts."

Without question, Winkler is part of the Capone organization. He has been known to lead the Capone racket for years but I don't want to convict him for this specific crime unless he is guilty.

Sorensen pointed out that Winkler's alibi is a lie. He said the county attorney has a month in advance of his trial and he told the county attorney to investigate it thoroughly.

The attorney general pointed out that three other men charged with the robbery did not submit alibi and they were brought into court for trial. Two of the men were convicted and the jury at the third trial was unable to reach an agreement. Thomas O'Connor, was sentenced to 15 years in prison, the maximum for bank robbery. Howard Lee is awaiting trial.

GOVERNOR ASKS 750 INDUSTRIES TO SPLIT WORK

Madison.—(AP)—In line with the action of his recent industrial conference here, Governor LaFollette today asked 750 Wisconsin industries to put into effect a plan approved by 48 of the State's business leaders, whereby employment may be increased by dividing up the available jobs between the workers who now have them and those who were laid off.

The plan was drawn by a special committee appointed a few days ago as a result of the governor's plan to the 48 industries. Copies have been mailed out to the employers. Those that cooperate were asked to advise the chief executive no later than Dec. 1 the number of additional persons who can be given work. The information probably will be used in connection with unemployment relief recommendations to the special session of the legislature this fall and may have important effect upon tax levies to be asked of that body.

Plan In Detail

The plan follows:

"The chief executive of every industrial organization shall issue positive instructions to his employment manager, or individual acting in that capacity, to increase employment as far as possible by the limitation of hours or by the staggering of employment (splitting up a given amount of work among a greater number of persons)."

"The number of persons employed by the organization in the last normal period shall be ascertained."

"An exact list of unemployed of the organization shall be made."

"Such list shall be classified in employment groups."

"The number of employed within each group shall be increased by dividing as equitably as practicable the total available hours of labor between the employed and the unemployed in such groups."

How It Would Work

If the plan is universally adopted each participating industry will go over the lists of employed which it had in normal times and give as many as possible some share of the job it now has persons who have been working steadily thus may have to share up with their fellow employees who have been laid off.

Adoption of the plan, of course, is optional with the industries but it was sent with the sanction of P. J. Sensenbrenner, Neenah manufacturer who acted as chairman of the governor's conference, and H. W. Story of Madison, chairman of the special conference committee.

In effect Governor LaFollette told the executives at the time that Wisconsin employers must pursue this means of spreading earning power or be prepared to pay higher taxes. There is no doubt that the special session of the legislature for relief work.

He also said that if the industries cooperate, the division of industrial jobs and the amount of work that will be available through the public works program he expects to recommend to the legislature will give some measure of employment to everyone in the state who wants it.

Two of the men were convicted and the jury at the third trial was unable to reach an agreement. Thomas O'Connor, was sentenced to 15 years in prison, the maximum for bank robbery. Howard Lee is awaiting trial.

Winkler Offers To Trade $600,000 In Stolen Bonds For Freedom From Charges

Lincoln, Neb.—(AP)—State Attorney General C. A. Sorensen today said August "Gus" Winkler, a lieutenant of Al Capone, Chicago gangster, has offered to buy $600,000 worth of bonds which were stolen in the $2,500,000 Lincoln National Bank and Trust company robbery and return them if a bank robbery charge against him is dismissed.

The attorney general was informed that Winkler and his friends will pay $75,000 for the bonds and hand them over to the bank if the charge is dropped. He now is under $100,000 bond pending trial for the robbery.

Phil D'Andrea, bodyguard of Capone and now under a six months jail sentence for carrying a concealed weapon visited Winkler while he was in jail here and apparently arranged the transaction.

Sorensen said Winkler denied participation in the robbery but had located the bonds through the Chicago gangster organization. The names of those holding the bonds and of Winkler's friends were not revealed by authorities here.

County Attorney Max G. Towle has frowned on Winkler's offer, but withheld his final decision for several days. In the meantime, he said he would let out of the city on a business trip.

Winkler is charged with the $2,500,000 robbery of the Lincoln National Bank and Trust company Sept. 17, 1931. Towle said several persons had urged him to reject Winkler's offer.

Sorensen said the gangster and his friends had offered to pay $150,000 of their own money for the securities and return them to the bank if the charge is dropped. The offer included all but $30,000 of the negotiable paper taken in the robbery. Winkler denies participation in the robbery but told officers he knew where the bonds are and could buy them. He is under $100,000 bond pending his trial here.

Gov. Charles W. Bryan believes the state of Nebraska should make no compromise with Winkler.

The governor said the state has been humiliated by the overtaking of the head man of the highway gang to escape punishment by returning part of the loot.

Question Abili

Sorensen said that if Winkler's alibi is sustained by an investigation he should not be prosecuted but it is the least bit shaky, the state should prosecute him, bonds or no bonds.

"It is the duty of the state," Sorensen said, "to prove Winkler is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, but I'm old-fashioned enough to believe even a hoodlum or a gangster should have a fair trial. He should not be sent to prison on suspicion. I want the law enforced so that even hoodlums will have respect for the courts."

Without question, Winkler is part of the Capone organization. He has been known to lead the Capone racket for years but I don't want to convict him for this specific crime unless he is guilty.

Sorensen pointed out that Winkler's alibi is a lie. He said the county attorney has a month in advance of his trial and he told the county attorney to investigate it thoroughly.

The attorney general pointed out that three other men charged with the robbery did not submit alibi and they were brought into court for trial. Two of the men were convicted and the jury at the third trial was unable to reach an agreement. Thomas O'Connor, was sentenced to 15 years in prison, the maximum for bank robbery. Committee Approves Hoover Naval Policy--Hits At Gardiner

DISPUTE MAY BE CONSIDERED BY CONGRESS

Britten and Hale Propose Building Program Despite Hoover Plan

Washington—(AP)—President Hoover's naval policy bore the approval of his special committee today, but that did not remove the possibility that congress will look into the matter when it meets in December.

Already there have been grumblings from big navy advocates at some of the cuts the president proposes to make in naval expenditures.

Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee, and Representative Britten of Illinois, chairman of the last house naval committee, have joined in proposing a building program which is outside the bounds of the president's list of suggested expenditures.

The dispute between Mr. Hoover and the Navy League halted at a stage where either the chief executive or William H. Gardiner, president of the league, may pick it up again.

Presumably the next step is Gardiner's and the league's to take, since the chief executive's five-man board headed by John Hays Hammond Saturday held the league, through its president, has uttered "many inaccuracies, false assumptions and erroneous conclusions." It is Gardiner's turn to act upon President Hoover's demand that he make a "public correction of his misstatements and an apology."

Retraction Improbable

He had asserted among other things, that the administration was starving the navy and that Mr. Hoover was "abysmally ignorant" of naval affairs.

Friends of Gardiner's doubt that he will retract. Should this be the case, President Hoover may decide to speak out again on the accusations which obviously rankled him.

Gardiner's supporters have largely upon the action of the league's executive committee their belief that he will stand firm. The committee, after voting confidence in him by 7 to 1 last week, dropped a hint that it would not consider the presidential board a final authority.

It volunteered its own records to any individual group that would throw "much needed light" on the president's naval policy.

Gardiner's only public comment was President Hoover attacked a statement was to suggest that congressional inquiry be held.

New support for President Hoover's stand came yesterday from Representative French, chairman for eight years of the naval appropriations sub-committee of the house.

Attacking Gardiner's charges as "malicious," the Idaho Republican said:

"No one can read the statement of Mr. Gardiner for the Navy League and the report of the committee of which Mr. Hammond was chairman, without realizing that Mr. Gardiner and his associates deserve the excommunication that they received."

"President's" Chair Is Presented To College By Bishop William Lawrence

The request for a "president's" chair at Lawrence college has been met and the founding of the college more than 80 years ago is linked more closely with its tradition of today in a unique gift by Bishop William Lawrence, of Massachusetts, son of the founder of the college.

The chair, received recently by President Henry M. Wriston, was used by Amos Adams Lawrence, Boston philanthropist, at the time he carried on the correspondence that led to the founding of an educational institution in 1847 in what was then a wilderness.

Known as "Glastonbury chair" and a replica from Glastonbury Abbey it is simple in its dignity and solid in architecture. The black walnut is handsomely carved and well matched with a red cushion.

Bishop Lawrence in making the gift to President Wriston, writes that it was used by his father in his library for many years. "Indeed, I never knew the room without it," he said.

It was moved with the family property at the time Amos Lawrence took up residence in Longwood Brookline, Mass., in 1851, and has been a part of the Lawrence family heritage since that date.

The chair will be used by the president of the college on all formal occasions, such as during commencement exercises and matriculation day convocations.

Bishop William Lawrence and the Rev. William Appleton Lawrence, son and grandson, respectively, of the founder were guests of the college in April, 1929, their first visit to the institution which bears their name. The Degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon William Appleton Lawrence by President Wriston.

TIBBETT TICKETS ON SALE THIS WEEK

Noted Baritone Appears in Concert Here on Monday, Nov. 23

Tickets for the Lawrence Tibbett concert on Nov. 23 will go on sale at Belling drug store early Wednesday morning. The first rail after the announcement of the scheduled concert brought enough orders to indicate that there is apt to be a typical "first-night" rush for seats.

Tibbett, famous in three fields—opera, movies and concert stage—has smashed the theory that when a public can hear great artists on the radio and see and hear them in the same place they will not take the trouble to go to concerts, theaters and operas. Recently the artist sang as soloist with a symphony orchestra in a city which had first been famous for its familiarity with him through his talks, "The Rogue Song," in town the same week, and through his performance on the radio only a few nights before. The normal symphony crowd—which never fills the auditorium—was present, and so were hundreds of other persons, filling every seat in the house and occupying a good deal of standing room.

The Appleton public knows Tibbett through the "Rogue Song," "New Moon," and the "Southerner," and it is expected that they will be eager to see in person the famous artist who is so popular in movies, opera and concert work.

The concert is being sponsored by the Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

3 Castaways Leave Ship In New York

New York—(AP)—Three modern Robinson Crusoes came back to civilization today and were treated to an extra large dose of it.

The three were Elmer Palliser, 55, San Diego, Calif., Gordon Brainerd, 21, of Springfield, Ill., and Paul Stachwick, 15, of Huron, S. D.

Sound movie men, newspaper reporters, photographers and magazine agents rode down the bay to meet them on the S. S. Virginia from Panama, and at least one vaudeville agent came all the way from Baltimore with them.

The three men recently were rescued from the island of Cocos, 550 miles southwest of Balboa, where they had been living the life of castaways for six months and eleven days. They sought the shelter of the island when their 26-foot yawl, with which they had put out from San Diego last April, sprang a leak. While trying to beach the boat it was wrecked and they were left to shift for best they could on the lonely island.

All three had closely clipped hair. They expressed delight at their return and told some of their experiences after considerable argument between reporters and their "agent."

The reporters were met by a man who identified himself as Hal Jerome of Radio-Kelth Orpheum corporation. He announced he had a 10 day option on the services of the castaways and said "I'll do all the talking."

Later, however, when several reporters expressed skepticism about the genuineness of the shipwreck, Jerome consented to direct questioning of his charges.

Salvaged Little Food

Brainerd did the talking. He said they salvaged five guns, three of them pistols and two rifles, a mattress for each one of them and some rice, flour and sugar. The latter staples were spoiled by rain except for a small bit of flour and they used a spoonful at a time.

Three of the pistols and one rifle were soon put out of commission, leaving only one gun for which they had 50 cartridges.

The gun was sold to a sailor on the gulfboat Sacramento which rescued the castaways after their presence on the island had been discovered by Julius Fleischmann, who was on a yacht cruise to the South seas.

The men also had a tin of matches, some string and fish hooks. They lived on coconuts, wild boar and fruit. They said they found three

JIM GENNA DIES OF HEART DISEASE AT HIS INDIANA HOME

Chicago—(AP)—Another of the Genna brothers is dead, but he died in bed.

He was Jim Genna, who passed away peacefully in his home in Calumet City, Ind., of heart disease.

Three of the others—Tony, Mike and Angelo—all died from bullet wounds following the slaying of Dion O'Banion in his Michigan-ave flower shop back in 1924.

Jim, whose real name was Vincenzo, the oldest of six brothers whose sanguinary fights for control of the liquor trade in Chicago during the early days of bootlegging, had lived in recent years in obscurity in Calumet City. For two years he had old shacks on the island and much evidence of treasure digging.

During their stay on the island they lost track of three days. Brainerd said it rained continually.

They saw only one ship and it was too far away for them to hail.

Palliser, who for the sake of the talking movies was called "captain" said none of the three was in command on the island.

"It was every man for himself," he said.

ASK DAMAGES FOR DEATH OF CRASH VICTIM

Complaint Blames Driver in Kaukauna Accident—$5,471 Sought

Damages of $5,471 are asked by Ethan Brewster, Kaukauna, administrator of the estate of his mother, Mrs. Ella Brewster, from R. J. Wilson Construction company of Appleton and the Employer's Liability Assurance Corporation, in a suit which opened in municipal court this morning before Judge Theodore Berg.

Mrs. Brewster died on July 8, 1930, from injuries received when she was struck by a truck owned by the Appleton firm. The truck was driven by Lester Ludtke, Kaukauna, an employee of the Wilson company.

Mrs. Brewster was crossing Crooks-ave. at Kaukauna at the intersection with Seventh-st., where she was struck by the truck, which was going north on Crooks-ave. She died three days later. The estate seeks $471 damages for hospital and funeral expenses and $5,000 for pain and suffering of Mrs. Brewster. The complaint charges Ludtke was driving in a careless and negligent manner when the accident happened. The defense denies Ludtke was driving in a negligent manner and asks dismissal of the complaint. A jury was drawn this morning and testimony started at once. Members of the jury are:

William F. Murphy, 219 E. Fremont-st.; August Laabs, 1045 E. North-st.; Giles F. Courtney, 914 W. Fifth-st.; Walter C. Steenis, 406 W. Fifth-st.; John A. Butler, 522 W. Sixth-st.; M. J. Eastman, 1319 N. Belvoir-st.; William J. Lueders, 44 Belvoir-st.; William Recker, 1322 S. Jackson-st.; N. J. Galpeau, 1103 N. Union-st.; Clifford Smith, 1301 S. Lawest; James Butler, 522 W. Sixth-st.; and Henry Kruse, 725 W. Elsie-st.

been in poor health. An operation failed to bring him relief.

After the gangland shootings that followed O'Banion's slaying Jim fled to Italy, where he was convicted in 1925 of the theft of the jewels of the Madonna di Trapani. He returned to the United States in 1929.

Last night his body lay in an undertaking establishment in the same neighborhood where the Gennas once were powerful figures in their particular line.

HEIFERS BACK ON FARM IN CATTLE RUSTLING EPISODE

Elkhorn—(AP)—Seven Holstein heifers owned by Walter Thomas, farmer living near East Troy, were back in the farmer's herd today as the aftermath of an up-to-date cattle rustling episode.

The cattle disappeared Friday night. Marks of a truck's tires and a hole cut in a fence were evidence of the thieves' "rustling" method.

Saturday night, after a description of the missing cattle was broadcast, Thomas notified the sheriff the animals had been returned. The farmer said he found the heifers on a road near his home, apparently released there when the thieves became frightened.

Bright Spots In Business

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York—Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York says unfilled orders at end of October showed the greatest improvement for a single month since statistics have been gathered, rising 51 per cent. The improvement causes the association to believe hand to mouth buying is being abandoned.

Construction contracts awarded in the New York Metropolitan area last month amounted to $85,518,000, or about $9,000,000 greater than the comparable period of 1930.

The American Bankers Association Journal in its review of October, finds that in both number and importance favorable developments in business and finance appear to have outweighed unfavorable ones. Sentiment is distinctly better, it says.

A questionnaire as to business conditions and outlook sent to the many agents of the National Surety company throughout the country confirmed the confidence of E. M. Allen, president of the company, who believed he saw signs of renewed optimism during a recent tour of the far west. The optimistic replies to the questionnaire outnumbered the pessimistic.

San Francisco—Twenty-six men manufacturing enterprises were launched in California during October against two last year; grape prices are up and building permits increased last month over September.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Weekend reports from the steel industry indicated expanded operations. The publication "Steel" said the operating ratio had advanced two points to 31-32 per cent of capacity, the best weekly rise since Sept. 24, and expressed the belief that the rate would hold throughout the week.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR REP. WURZBACH

San Antonio, Texas—(AP)—Thousands of friends who had repeatedly sent Harry M. Wurzbach, a Republican, to congress from a pronounced Democratic district, paid him final tribute at funeral services here yesterday.

Approximately 20,000 persons stood with bared heads as the casket was lowered into the grave at the National cemetery following rites at St. Mark Episcopal church. Full military honors marked the ceremony. Wurzbach was a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, representing the senate, spoke briefly. Wurzbach, who was 57 years old, died Friday following an appendicitis operation.

Gov. Ross S. Sterling had issued no call today for a special election to select a successor to Wurzbach. It was generally conceded the district would elect a Democrat.

Friends said Wurzbach owed his political victories to personal popularity, rather than party support.

BADGER SOLONS FACE LOSS OF COMMITTEE JOBS

If Democrats Organize House, Many Congress- men Will Lose Positions

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington
Correspondent

Washington, Nov. 9.—Rep. John M. Nelson of Madison will lose his chairmanship of the committee on invalid pensions, together with the right to appoint several employees, and Rep. James A. Frear of Hudson will lose his place on the committee on ways and means if the Democrats maintain their present majority until the house is organized.

Rep. William H. Stafford of Milwaukee might also be put on a committee less important than the military affairs committee, of which he is now a member. Rep. John C. Schafer of Milwaukee might lose his place on the committee on expenditures in the Executive Departments, which is his favorite committee.

Of course, no Republican will be chairman of a committee if the Democrats organize, and that would leave Rep. Nelson out. The number of Republicans on each committee would be reduced, and those near the bottom of the list might be transferred to less important committees. Rep. Frear is right at the bottom of the ways and means committee, and would certainly go off of it. Stafford and Schafer might keep their places, but probably would not.

Most Are Secure

Most of the other Wisconsin congressmen are fairly secure in their committee positions. They hope that they might obtain better committee assignments through aiding in the election of a Republican speaker of the house.

In other words, the Wisconsin progressive congressmen are now entirely without power to deal with the regular Republican organization for chairmanships, committee assignments, and patronage. The Democrats have a majority of the house which can be reduced to a minority between now and Dec. 7, the opening day of congress, only by deaths and illness. Of course, there is the same chance for illness and death among the Republicans. The election of a Republican to the New Jersey vacancy would throw the organization into a tie only in case Rep. Paul Kvale of Minnesota, farmer-labor member, votes with the Republicans.

It is believed here that the result will be the certain formation of an insurgent bloc in the house for legislative purposes. Both the insurgents and the regular Republicans will be more independent of each other than they would be otherwise, for neither will have anything to gain by dickering with the other.

It was freely predicted here that some of the Wisconsin progressives who have not been very insurgent in recent years will turn into "flaming insurgents" during the coming session, using their power for purposes of getting legislation through, not for house organization.

If Rep. Nelson loses his chairmanship, he will be allowed not more than $5,000 clerk hire, not more than $3,000 of which can go to one person, and not more than two persons to be employed.

Now, in addition to the $5,000 clerk hire allowed each congressman, he has the appointment of five committee employees. A clerk at $3,000; an assistant clerk at $2,000; an expert examiner at $2,700; a stenographer at $3,640; and a janitor at $1,500. Some of these, however, are experts assigned by the Pensions bureau. He retained the former clerk of the committee, Bingham W. Mathias, for the $3,300 job. Other members of his staff last year included Miss Helen Stendall of Madison, daughter of former State Senator Albert M. Stendall; Mrs. Virginia Hayner Saunders of Madison; Miss Becker of Monroe, daughter of former Judge Becker; Miss Tilda V. Nelson, the congressman's sister, and, part of the time, his daughter, Miss Grace Nelson.

Rep. Frear exhibits great unconcern over the prospect of losing his membership on one of the three most important committees of the house—Ways and Means, which handles all tax and tariff legislation. "I'll find something else to do," he says.

It is not quite clear why he did not change his plans and remain in Wisconsin for the progressive conference during the past week. He arrived here the last day of October, saying he had intended all along to come then, that he had some personal affairs here to look after, and that he wanted to look over the work of the special committee investigating fiscal affairs of the District of Columbia, of which he is a member.

In a formal statement to the press on the election, he continued to emphasize the question of reforming the house rules.

The rules must be changed, for the old rules would not work in a house in which no one party has a clear majority. Perhaps the progressive demands will not be completely carried out by the Democrats, but certainly the rules will be liberalized, particularly along the line mentioned by Rep. Frear—that of preventing "progressive" legislation from being smothered by a minority.

Another Wisconsin man who will be hard hit by the Democratic capture of the house is Frank Collier of La Crosse, postmaster of the house of representatives at a salary of $5,000. This is an elective office, and a Democrat will be chosen if the Democrats keep their majority. Postmaster Collier might, however, be retained as assistant postmaster at a salary of $2,500.

Collier has served six terms, or 12 years, as postmaster, and prior to that he worked 12 years for the house of representatives in various capacities.

Jack Nelson said here during the past week to begin to get things started for newly-elected Rep.

George Schley and Son of Milwaukee will draw the plans for the Two Rivers federal building.

Contracts awarded for public and semi-public works in Wisconsin and reported to the President's organization on unemployment relief during the past week include:

Leighton bridge in Oconto co., $14,616; Appleton, sanitary sewer, $59,700; sewer laterals, $700; Milwaukee, water mains, $15,600; pumphouses and reservoir at Waukesha, $9,950; storm sewer extensions at Beaver Dam, $16,000; engineer's residence at Eau Claire, 4,750; alterations to boiler house at Green Bay, $72,332; sanitary sewer at Kenosha, $683; grading West-ave at La Crosse, $20,000; Ogema municipal building, $10,000; storm sewer at Racine, $1,850; sewage disposal plant at Thorp, $10,000; paving alley in Wauwatosa, $2,500; church at Bay Settlement, $35,000; sanitary sewer at Lake Geneva, $5,450; South Milwaukee post office, $55,600.

Rep. Frear exhibits great unconcern over the prospect of losing his membership on one of the three most important committees of the house—Ways and Means, which handles all tax and tariff legislation. "I'll find something else to do," he says.

It is not quite clear why he did not change his plans and remain in Wisconsin for the progressive conference during the past week. He arrived here the last day of October, saying he had intended all along to come then, that he had some personal affairs here to look after, and that he wanted to look over the work of the special committee investigating fiscal affairs of the District of Columbia, of which he is a member.

In a formal statement to the press on the election, he continued to emphasize the question of reforming the house rules.

The rules must be changed, for the old rules would not work in a house in which no one party has a clear majority. Perhaps the progressive demands will not be completely carried out by the Democrats, but certainly the rules will be liberalized, particularly along the line mentioned by Rep. Frear—that of preventing "progressive" legislation from being smothered by a minority.

Another Wisconsin man who will be hard hit by the Democratic capture of the house is Frank Collier of La Crosse, postmaster of the house of representatives at a salary of $5,000. This is an elective office, and a Democrat will be chosen if the Democrats keep their majority. Postmaster Collier might, however, be retained as assistant postmaster at a salary of $2,500.

Collier has served six terms, or 12 years, as postmaster, and prior to that he worked 12 years for the house of representatives in various capacities.

Jack Nelson said here during the past week to begin to get things started for newly-elected Rep.

COUNTY'S SHARE OF SCHOOL AID LOWER

Must Raise $68,250 Next Year Compared to $83,- 888 for This Year

Outagamie co must levy a tax of $68,250 as aid for the elementary schools during 1932, according to word received from the state department of education. Each county must raise a sum equivalent to $250 for each teacher on the pay-rolls last May. In Outagamie co there were 273 teachers on the payroll, thus making a total of $68,250 to be raised. Last year the county's tax for elementary schools was $83,888. Thus there is a reduction of about $15,000 this year.

The apportionment of state aid to the schools, which includes equalization funds, as well as a sum equal to that contributed by the counties, will be made in December. This figure will run close to $6,000,000.

Following are some of the counties in this vicinity and the amounts each will have to raise: Brown, 283 teachers, $70,750; Calumet, 51 teachers, $12,750; Fond du Lac, 311 teachers, $77,750; Manitowish, 314 teachers, $78,500; Shawano, 145 teachers, $36,250; Sheboygan, 327 teachers, $81,750; Waupaca, 213 teachers, $53,250; Winnebago, 318 teachers, $79,500.

SCIENTISTS TO MAKE STUDY OF FARM LAND

LaCrosse.—(AP)—Agricultural scientists soon will begin a careful study of soil erosion on a 140-acre experimental farm four miles east of LaCrosse.

The farm has been purchased by the Wisconsin State Emergency board. Co-operating in its operation and in scientific experiments will be the bureau of chemistry and soils and the bureau of agriculture engineering, department of agriculture, and research workers of the Lake States Forest Experiment station, St. Paul.

Means of preventing erosion, including terracing and strip planting, will be studied. A dairy herd will be maintained to study the use of steep slopes for pasture, and on the steepest land timber will be grown. Funds for operation of the farm will be provided by the department of agriculture.

IF YOUR EARS RING With Head Noises.

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to Schlitz Bros. or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmit (double strength) and add to it 1/2 pt. of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

48 PUPILS WITHDRAW BECAUSE OF FUNDS

Madison.—(AP)—Financial difficulties compelled at least 48 students to withdraw from the University of Wisconsin this year, according to Miss G. M. Martin, assistant registrar.

A total of 100 students have withdrawn from the university in addition to those who have been dropped because of lack of funds. 31 others who were dropped last year paid their way this year, but are not responsible for the university's expenses.

Students who were to attend other universities but were unable to do so were also dropped from the university.

THE BANKING POOL

Of course, the success of President Hoover's proposal to create a half billion dollar corporation in aid of banks with good but slow securities, was assured from the outset simply because it is a sound proposal.

We have had some banks unfortunately operated as well as some improperly operated.

Taking off the hands of banks good securities that could not be sold under existing conditions without too great a loss is a sound policy when those securities are issued by industries or businesses found to be self-supporting, able to pay their way and monthly or annually reducing their indebtedness.

Official figures show that we have in this country about nine billions of actual currency, which is $75 per person, including the children.

When large amounts of this life blood of the nation are withdrawn in panic and hidden under beds or in safety deposit boxes a hectic and artificial condition is created whereby even those thoroughly sound are suspected of all sorts of financial ills.

The readiness with which the soundest and hardest headed bankers in the country have taken up the President's proposal is just another indication that they know that the securities mentioned are safe and that in assisting to liquidate them they are not even taking a risk.

It is certain that the securities taken over will be subjected to the closest scrutiny and those not satisfactorily sound turned aside.

Some writers are questioning whether all these efforts to offset the effects of the depression are not wasted, that it should have been permitted to take its course and that while the pain might have been more acute it would not have lasted as long.

Of course, it cannot be known how much worse conditions might have become without this fight against them but certain it is that this protection of sound securities from the result that arises simply because no one is willing to buy them however sound they appear to be—and that's what makes a market—cannot fail to hasten improvement.

People should remember a thing that a great many of them have forgotten, that one of the important factors in attaining normalcy is the return of currency to circulation, the very return of which will bring also that essential element of confidence without which even a hen coop couldn't be built.

ALMOST GHOSTLY

Dr. B. N. Patten of the Western Reserve Medical School presented before the New York Academy of Medicine's graduation meeting microscopic motion pictures portraying for the first time the exact development of heart and circulatory system in chick embryos.

The film caught the first heartbeat in an unhatched chicken revealing it in the portion of the heart that goes to make up the heart muscles. This beat begins over a day after the incubation of the egg is started and five days before the formation of any nerve tissue.

Heretofore scientists have argued as to whether the nerves within the heart or the heart muscle originated the impulses that give rise to the heartbeats.

Taking the heartbeat as symbolic of life, the first beat as the very inception of life, and because movement is supposed to indicate life regardless of lack of conscious effort, we have life actually commencing not only before the body is completely formed but even before the appearance of those indispensable things, the nerves.

Before the science of medicine revealed to man so many secrets about himself, the heartbeat was considered by the ancients as a thing wholly apart from and beyond human or earthly control. The heart then represented the location of the divine spark, and no one had a key to it but the angels.

Of course, it was early learned that with the heartbeat life existed and with it gone death ruled. And so it was concluded that the control of the heart could never be in human hands nor affected by human purposes but that its operations from start to finish were ruled from on high.

And so the medical profession comes near again to that "tongueless secret locked in fate," so near, and yet so far, yes, so terribly far.

It has found out when life starts, and just where it starts. Will it ever be able to point its finger to the exact physical agency that starts it? Or is there any?

TWO BOYS

The same editions of the newspaper that told how a 12-year-old boy in Washington had been sentenced to a life term in prison for murder also told of a year-old boy in Ohio who had just inherited upwards of one and three-quarter million dollars.

In that juxtaposition of two unrelated news items there is a volume of comment, or at least a great chance for comment, on the kind of civilization we have put together on the North American continent.

It is not necessary to go all the way with the determinists to realize that the chief villain in this Washington tragedy, aside from the possibility of an unbalanced mental inheritance, was a bad economic situation. One of the court officials at the boy's trial remarked:

"His case is typical of the shattered home, diseased mind and poverty."

The youngster, in plain English, never had much of a chance in life. He missed his chance because of various things, but chiefly because the things that might have straightened him out would have cost more money than anyone was able or cared to spend for him.

So, at 12, he is a murderer and a life-terminer.

On the other hand, there is this fortunate chap in Ohio. No one, certainly, will begrudge him his good luck; nor does his fortune make it in the least certain that he will turn out to be a first-class citizen. He may be a killer too. But the impressive thing about it is the fact that he starts with an enormous advantage over the other boy. The cards have been stacked somehow. The odds are all in his favor; they were all against the Washington lad, from the moment that he drew his first breath of life.

Our society will be kind to the Ohio boy. It will have a good home for him, skillful teachers, a chance to play and grow and develop normally. It will be quick to nourish any divine possibilities he may display.

And yet when he comes to maturity this same fortune that has smoothed out so many wrinkles for him may be the very element that makes of him a sot and a wastrel.

Wealth, as well as poverty, has brought ruin.

And poverty often brings out more character than wealth.

BEECH TREE CASUALTIES

This second droughty year in the middle west is playing havoc with the beech trees. In the city parks many of them are withering under the hot sun with not enough moisture at the roots to restore them. Native beeches, usually having exposed roots, presumably due to early growth in swampy lands, now drained, are falling victims of civilization. Not often do we see a young sprout of a beech of the American variety, at least in the woods. Natural conditions, such as made the beech one of the most common of forest trees throughout the central area of North America no longer exist. The new crop, therefore, if there is to be one, needs nurturing. The nurseries can produce them from seed and the young trees can be successfully cultivated. But care is required and not many plantings are reported. The beech is commonly regarded as one of the most beautiful and desirable of the forest trees. Fortunately nature provided great numbers of beeches. Otherwise they would have become obsolete under new influences that they have experienced. The trunk and branches have a smooth blue-gray, spotted appearance almost unique. Clothed in smooth foliage or denuded in winter the beech is one of the most attractive and appealing of the forest trees throughout the whole year. It is a calamity when one of them passes away.—Indianapolis News.

THE TREATY

"The Steel Helmet Legion will never accept peace with the frontiers set up by the provisions of the Versailles Treaty. That portions of the Fatherland saturated with the blood and tears and sweat of countless German generations should be ruthlessly torn from our historic domain and made a part of other and foreign states, is unendurable. Continual protest must be made, and a firm stand taken on our inherent rights in these confiscated territories."

"Surely half a million veterans of the war, strongly united, can wield a power and inspire a patriotism that will command respect and lead eventually to the restoration of our national rights in old frontiers and alleviation in the financial exactions imposed on us for a guilt and responsibility which were not ours."

Such are the utterances and such the goals of the legion and its commanders, sentiments which the Ments clergy, as well as ecclesiastics in other parts of the country fear may bring new troubles on the country, already rent with popular dissension and civil conflict.—Essener Allgemeine Zeitung.

SATURDAY, last, one of those days when all the poets and painters should be turned loose and given free hand . . . and all the gloomers chased into the storm cellar and the hatch battened down after them . . . and all the hospitals opened up and the inmates sent out to play golf . . . and every kid excused from odd jobs and cleaning the basement and sent to the vacant lot football game . . . and every columnist given at least a week off . . .

"BADGER W. C. T. U. BEGS TEACHERS TO JOIN THEM" (headline)

We read over that headline a couple of times. Then we thought of some teachers we know. And, dearie, wouldn't believe it, we had to quickly think about something else before hysterics got us.

"Reach for the ceiling," yelled five bold, bad bandits to the employees of an Illinois bank.

But the employees reached for alarm buttons instead, and, believe it or not, the bandits ran. Out.

Ex-President Coolidge shot a skunk on his Vermont farm not long ago. Now, if Cal would run for the presidency next year, someone could work up a dandy campaign slogan out of that incident.

There were, we understand, some hard times back in 1923, too. Anyway, they threw a lad out of his job in an automobile factory. To make a living, he went tramping in burlesque.

Now he's the comedian in the (maybe) Broadway success "East Wind."

Which proves, Tillie, that every cloud has a . . . (sorry folks, but the long-suffering typewriter simply refuses to write that bromide).

We read where Cab Calloway, negro band leader from Harlem, admits that he didn't write the verse to "Minnie the Moocher," but that he did write the chorus. And the chorus. Tillie is sumpin'!

"Ho do de ho (Ho do de ho do)
Rah de dah de dah (Rah de dah de dah)
Tee-dee dee de de (Tee-dee dee de de)
Beede doo de doo. Oh Minnie!
We da wa doo, ho de ho de ho."

THOMAS ALVA EDISON

Impossible was king when he was born;
Men feared to dare beyond his outer wall;
The world was large, the space of man was small.
Life followed paths the cattle feet had worn;
Progress and thought, like travelers forlorn.
Had halted by the wayside; over all
The world grey dullness settled like a pall
And genius, shackled, woke to greet the morn.
Against this tyrant of the human mind
Whose subjects live forever in the past,
Courageously his daring dreams he cast,
Toiled day and night the better way to find,
Broke barriers down, and by the works he wrought
Made possible the miracles of thought.

PNEUMONIA IS A NEAT WAY TO GO

It would be just my luck, I suppose, to develop pneumonia some fine winter's day and make the obituary column. At that, it is not a bad way to shuffle off. Only I hope if I ever do go that way my friends will not allow my enemies to make any wisecracks about it. I'm just as much entitled to catch such an infectious disease as the next chap, even if he is a regular old mollycoddle, a cowardly draft dodger, a fellow who wears extra clothing when the weather seems raw or damp, not for comfort but just to protect him against taking the weather in thru his pores.

If I am fated to have pneumonia, I hope it will be the acute, short and less painful kind, known in time past as lung fever, and today as lobar or pleuro-pneumonia. This is the illness the beloved Osler called "the friend of the aged. Taken off by it in an acute, short, not often painful illness, the old man escapes those cold gradations of decay so distressing to himself and to his friends." Yeah, and it is so much pleasanter for the dear ones to remember the old man succumbed to pneumonia than it is to remember he had cancer, tuberculosis, dementia, leprosy or anything like that. Nobody minds admitting that there is pneumonia in the family. Pneumonia is rather a snooty disease. It is a nice, clean, sporting sort of final illness, and altogether a neat, economical and gentlemanly way to check out.

Not that acute infectious pneumonitis, God forgive me, necessarily carries a man off. Indeed, a good man who has not dissipated nor gone too soft ought to put up a fair fight and win on the seventh or eighth day. In fact four out of five do win. If you are to win your battle you know it when the "crisis" comes. If you were all shot, in bad condition before the Pneumococcus laid you low, even if you stay with us till the crisis you may still peter out in the aftermath. But I reckon I'm fairly fit and if I see the crisis I'm going to stick around a while longer. For one thing I don't drink. Never have drank. When you're scheduled for a bout with pneumo you a tremendous advantage if you're a teetotaler. Boozie hounds, even moderate imbibers, simply can't put up the fight, call it the resistance if you like, but it is merely defense, largely consisting of hurried recruiting and mobilization of a large army of leukocytes or phagocytes, white blood corpuscles. This blood count in the case of the boozier gives a low white cell enumeration, which means a gloomy prognosis, for clearly the patient can't fight.

Another little conceit or mine is the fancy that my queer notion that pure cold fresh air and sunshine do no great harm will stand me in good stead if I ever do come down with lung fever, for while I can't give a tangible explanation of it I like to think that my peculiar notion enables me to get a little more ultra-violet or vitamin than the ordinary person gets who doesn't like to get more perceptibly. This ultra-violet or vitamin factor is surely concerned in the development of immunity and the ability to withstand or overcome infection.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
If in Doubt, Use Slovepipe
Is there any danger in using a gas range in a very small kitchen having only one window, which we keep open a little when we're using the range? Mrs. M. A. J.

Answer—It is always better to have the cooking stove connected with the chimney or flue or open air by stovepipe. If that one window is always open, and there is good ventilation, you are not endangered by using the range. The electric stove or heater is the only kind that is safe and hygienic to use with suitable stove pipe flue connection to carry products of combustion out of the house.

Brain
I have not seen any allusion in your column to the present controversy about the use of bran for "poultage." The authorities who discourage it are voluble enough. (R. J.)

Answer—They have to be voluble to earn the retainer. Some invalids should not use bran in the diet unless it is advised by their physician.

less it is advised by their physicians. Any normal person may take bran, usually with benefit to health, and always, I think, with enjoyment, especially if he takes it in the form of bran gems, bread, cookies and the like.

A Real Old Timer
I am bothered with weak kidneys. My back.... (C. D. L.)

Answer—I dunno much about the pathology of weak kidneys but I suggest that you quit reading the almanac. If your back troubles you, better see a doctor about it. There are many more things than kidneys that are more likely to cause such complaint.

Cancer of the Lip
Is cancer of the lip catching? What precautions should be taken when a member of the family has it? (Mrs. H. E. S.)

Answer—Cancer is not catching. Ordinary cleanliness with soap and water is ample precaution.
Cold Baths
Is it advisable for a man 44 years old to take a cold shower bath every morning? He is an insurance agent. He thinks his morning cold shower baths are for his day's work. (Mrs. G. A.)

Answer—If he enjoys the bath, and feels fine immediately afterward, it is an excellent habit.

The Tinymites
By Hal Cochran

WEE CLOWNY shortly tried his hand at weaving baskets and, my land, he made an awful mess of things. It made the others roar. "You're not so good at that," said one. "Well, anyway, I'm having fun," snapped Clowny. "But you've laughed so I won't do it any more."

Then Scouty shouted, "There's a sight I'd like to see. A fine bull fight! Gee, will you take us, Travel Man? 'Twould give us all a thrill." The Travel Man replied, "Well, I think an arena's right nearby. If you will all behave yourselves I very gladly will."

So, off they went and what a day! The fight was not a bit like play. All of the bulls seemed very mad and how they charged the men. One fighter sued his ground real well and Copy shouted, "Gee, he's swell! He dashes up before the bull and jumps away again."

At last the fight was over and the mob moved slowly from the stand. The Times and the Travel Man then rode back into town. The Travel Man said, "It's a trip all planned for us, upon a ship. We'll hurry now, and get aboard before the sun goes down."

Once on the ship, they raced around and soon a dandy place was found to sit and watch the water that was swished up by the bow. They roared and roared for quite a spell and then they heard the captain yell, "We soon will reach Havana. We are nearing that town now."

Then Clowny gave them all a scare as he cried out, "What is that, there?" He pointed to a fort-like place that stood out "neath the sun." "Course not a single Tin knew, but Mister Travel Man said, "You are looking at a famous place. It's Morro Castle, son."

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York—Who said gossiping over the telephone was the restricted pleasure of women of the small towns—where they have sewing circles, and such things?

Here in New York you can't get a "flat rate" for telephone service—that is, you can't get the company to charge you a certain number of dollars for the use of an instrument by the month, regardless of how many calls you make.

Maybe it's the same in other big cities now, but the point is—

At New York's telephone headquarters they list a certain number of calls you may make for a specified sum of money. For all above that number the subscriber is charged a certain amount.

Curious about this situation, we interrogated a charming brunette employed at one of the paying-decks. "Mister, don't you realize," she shot back, "that if the company didn't do something to discourage the gossiping of women over the telephone we simply couldn't handle the volume of business calls we have in Manhattan?"

"That, to be sure, struck us as being something of an innovation, considering how many hundreds of purely business calls we have made from our home address—and paid for."

But, I suppose, we must be public spirited.

GAIN PEACE BY PREPARING FOR WAR--FARRAND

Military Training Must Continue, Says Former Legion Commander

Neenah—The way to win everlasting peace is to prepare for war, Col. Roy Farrand, Deltafield, declared Sunday morning in his address at the annual Armistice Sunday service sponsored by the American Legion and auxiliary at Embassy theatre.

"Had we been prepared in 1917, there might not have been a World war and your sons who lost their lives would probably be alive today," he said.

"The pacifist claims that preparing for war makes war. In Switzerland, that tiny country in the center of warring Europe, no male has to be a soldier and is ready to fight in 24 hours' notice. And Switzerland has only been in one major conflict, while the United States, unprepared, has been in six in the past 150 years. The same element that is fighting against military training in schools and colleges want world revolution and anarchy, not peace. Real Americans are sane thinkers and believe in letting the world know that we are ready for war at all times."

"We should take stock and plan for the future, insuring lasting peace for America and the entire world. That is why we are here to dedicate our activities to those who died. Here the pacifist is preaching against war, and in his own country is preparing for a world revolution."

Deaths Price of War

"This list of casualties, or sacrifices of war is the price we pay for victory and we will ever hear that marion of silent death of the men who gave up their lives."

"Since the war is over, men are different. The one who was a top sergeant is perhaps now a banker, your trench partner, who confided in you when war was raging, is now a bashful, fearful man; some who carried messages through the hell fire are now attorneys or settled down, trying to forget the awfulness of it all. Many are lying in hospitals looking at the bare white walls, never to be able to walk again. They do not want war. They are the ones who can tell you of its horrors a thousand times more than the pacifist who is shouting about peace."

He spoke in reverence of the American mother whose son sacrificed his life that the world might be better for her to live. He praised the American Legion.

Armistice Sunday service is an annual event here, sponsored by the Legion and Auxiliary in cooperation with eight of the churches.

The program opened with an organ selection by Miss Barbara Simmons, followed by advancement of colors and salute to the flag, led by P. J. Schmeidler, who was in charge of the program. The invocation was made by the Rev. A. Gordon Forsyth of St. Thomas Episcopal church and the audience sang "Onward Christian Soldiers." A prayer was read by the Rev. E. C. Kollath of Immanuel Lutheran church.

N. D. Nielsen, commander of James P. Hawley Post American Legion, read the preamble of the Legion constitution. A quartet composed of Mrs. Roy Steves, and Mrs. F. J. Schmeidler, G. W. Collip and Roy Steves sang, accompanied by Mrs. James Fritzen at the piano.

Meyer Calls Roll

The annual memorial service was conducted by John Meyer, who called the roll of departed veterans. Taps were sounded, followed by a solo, "There is No Death," by Mrs. Steves. Following the offering and the address by Col. Farrand, "America" was sung and the benediction given.

The offering, which was taken by Boy Scouts and Brigadiers, is used exclusively for Legion service work for comfort and relief of disabled, and dependents.

The annual observance of Armistice day will be held Wednesday evening when a banquet will be served at the Sign of the Fox, followed by dancing and cards at Equitable Reserve association hall.

CLINTONVILLE DEFEATED BY NEENAH, 19-7

Rally in Last Quarter Brings Another Victory to Jorgenson Team

Neenah—In a last quarter rally with the score at 7 to 6 in Clintonville's favor, Neenah high school forged ahead and won 19 to 7 Saturday afternoon at the new athletic field before a crowd of about 2,000. Line plunges by Block and Fahrner and excellent interference and tackling by Fetters, gave Neenah its first touchdown in the third period. Neenah's second and third touchdowns came in the last quarter after a successful series of plunging, end runs and a few passes.

Coach Ole Jorgenson started the game with most of his second string men in play; McDermid at center, Bahr and Neubauer, guards; Block and Palmbach, tackles; Bylow and C. Block, ends; Fetters and Rabideau, half backs; Haire, quarterback; Woelckner, fullback. Smith and Meyer alternated at end positions during the first half in place of Block. This lineup held the visitors to a 0 and 0 score throughout the first half although Clintonville worked hard to get within a few yards of the scoring point on several occasions.

Clintonville's lineup throughout the game included Kemmer and Hughes, ends; Dufrene and Palmer, tackles; Billings, center; Donoly and Breed, guards; Penowsky, quarterback; Wyland and Schmidt, half backs; and Monte, fullbacks. But one substitution was made, Shepard replaced Breed, who broke an arm during the second quarter but remained in the game to the end of the half. Woelckner featured the ground gaining and Fetters was the star tackler and interference man during the first half.

At the beginning of the second half, five first-string men were put into the game by Coach Jorgenson. Block replaced Rabideau, Fahrner went in for Woelckner, Teopler for Block, Meyer for Bylow and Kuehl for McDermid. Patterson replaced Haire and Krause replaced Bahr in the fourth quarter.

With these fresh men in the line, the machine began to work perfectly and Neenah had little trouble in getting ahead.

Neenah scored the first touchdown in the third quarter when Haire snared a pass from Block from the 10-yard line and went over. Try for extra point failed. Clintonville made the second touchdown, its only marker, in the beginning of the last quarter. Penowsky, after a successful pass to Neenah's 10-yard line, plunged over center to the 3-yard line, and went through on a spinner play for six points. He also made the extra point on a kick.

Neenah's second touchdown came soon after when Block went through on an end run from the 10-yard line. A pass to Fahrnerkug was good for the extra point. The last marker for Neenah came in the fourth quarter when Block got the end of the game after Block got away on his own 40-yard line for a run to Clintonville's 29-yard line; a plunge by Fahrnerkug placed the ball on the 20-yard line; Block again picked up 10 or 12 yards on a center rush and Fahrnerkug took the ball over from the 7-yard line. Try for extra point failed.

Officials—C. Kuehl of Whitefish Bay, referee; Picketts of Appleton, umpire; Paul Kalfahs, Neenah, head linesman.

ECONOMY PROGRAM FACES SUPERVISORS

County Board Meets Tomorrow at Oshkosh for November Session

Neenah—Winnebago county board of supervisors will meet Tuesday for its November session at Oshkosh. Economy will be the keynote of the session, it has been forecast.

George B. Young, Oshkosh, will preside at the meeting at which the county budget for 1932 will be drafted. The county tax for next year will be substantially lower than the state tax for this year. Elimination of the state tax has allowed a large sum from the total which must be collected from taxpayers, and even the county total is expected to be lower for next year.

There will be several important decisions for the county board to make. It may be called upon to decide what shall be done about establishing a municipal court at Neenah and Menasha. That problem has been in the limelight for several months, and agitation has started anew in some quarters, even though the supreme court has ruled the mutual provision is not legal. The county board, it has been pointed out by District Attorney F. B. Keele, can set up a court of limited jurisdiction in the twin cities.

The supervisors will be asked to appropriate enough money to assure construction of a children's ward at Sunnyside sanatorium. Similar approval must come from the Fond du Lac county board, as Fond du Lac owns a first year in the institution. Highway and road matters are also scheduled for discussion.

Menasha—The Herby Recreation No. 2 bowling squad scored an easy win over the Rid's Place Keglers of Appleton in a three game match on Herby alleys Sunday afternoon. Led by George Raleigh, who topped 694 pins in three games, the Menasha bowlers took three straight games and led by 194 pins at the close of the match.

ST. MARY GRID TEAM DEFEATS ST. NORBERT'S

25 to 0 Victory Gives Menasha School League Championship

Menasha—St. Mary high school grid squad, scoring a 25 to 0 win over St. Norberts of DePere, took undisputed possession of the Fox River Valley Catholic high school football league championship here Sunday afternoon. The Menasha eleven piled up a 15 to 0 lead in the first half and played in St. Norberts territory during most of the game.

The St. Mary aggregation's credit with three wins and no losses in conference competition and Sunday's homecoming battle concluding the season's activities. The St. Mary high school band entertained between halves and a large crowd watched the battle.

Stulp, St. Mary fullback, led the Menasha attack. He scored three of the four touchdowns and rushed steadily on smashes through the DePere line. The fourth touchdown was chalked up in the fourth quarter when Coopman, diminutive St. Norberts punter and scored on a 45 yard run through a broken field.

Recover Fumble

St. Mary's scored the first marker after recovering a St. Norbert fumble in the first few minutes of play and a series of line smashes by Stulp, Pruchnoffski and Coopman brought the ball to the two yard line. The visitors held for two downs but on the third attempt Stulp plunged over center for the touchdown. A pass for extra point was incomplete.

Early in the second period a St. Mary punt was grounded on the St. Norbert one yard line and the return kick was returned to the 22 yard marker. Pruchnoffski made it first down on the 12 yard line. Coopman on two drives off tackle brought the ball to the one yard line, and Stulp went over for his second touchdown. A smash at the line for extra point failed to count.

Near the close of the half, with the ball on the St. Norbert 20 yard line, Stulp raced around left end for another touchdown. A pass, Rieschl to Coopman, was good for the extra point.

Third Period Scoreless

Neither team scored during the third quarter but in the final period Gajewski broke through to tackle Shimon. St. Mary kicker and it was Menasha's ball on the St. Norbert 26 yard line. Two line smashes and a pass failed to gain and Coopman kicked out of bounds on the 20 yard line and over the left field fence.

A few moments later another St. Norbert punt was bad, sailing straight up over the line of scrimmage. It was recovered by Pruchnoffski on the six yard line. The St. Norbert defense stiffened, stopped Stulp on the one yard line, took the ball on downs, and

Lawrence Spoils Carroll College Homecoming With 18-12 Win

VIKINGS TAKE LEAD IN FIRST PERIOD OF GAME

Pioneers Then Tie Up Score; Vikes Rally in Third Quarter

BY TOMMY RYAN
An aggressive charging Lawrence football team settled an old score with Carroll college Pioneers before 1,500 wild homecoming fans when the Vikings, under the direction of Coach Percy Clapp, administered an 18 to 12 drubbing at Waukesha Saturday. It was the first defeat for Carroll on home field.

The Pioneers surprised the Vikes team when they showed an effective offensive attack that netted them 14 first downs, 11 of which came in the first half.

The Blue and White kicked off to the Pioneers and were held for downs. On the next play Haase blocked Otter's kick and recovered for Lawrence on the 20 yard line. Faber, Lund and Roemer alternated in carrying the ball to the ten yard line where Carroll strengthened for three downs. Faber, on the fourth down behind perfect blocking, scampered over the Carroll left tackle for six points. Faber missed the kick.

Carroll Scores
The Orange received and carried the ball to the 50 yard marker on straight line backs with Otter and Hemp doing the lugging. When line plays failed, Otter, on a fake spinner slide back and heaved a long, lobbing pass directly down the center of the field to Jordan who received it on a dead run but stumbled and was tackled by Roemer on the ten yard line. Two line plays failed and then Otter smacked the line for a touchdown. Hemp missed the place kick.

But the Vikes were not to be outdone. Immediately after they received the kickoff Faber whipped a pass to Herb Vander Bloemen, who leaped in the air to take it out of the hands of two Carroll backs, eluded three more tacklers and scampered 15 yards for a touchdown. Faber's kick for the extra point was blocked.

When Carroll received again the Orange attack began to function. Otter, Jordan and Hemp unleashed a slashing offensive attack that netted six straight first downs and terminated with a touchdown when Hemp went over from the one yard line. McCowan's dropkick went wide of the uprights. Just before the half ended "Smiley" Feind entered the game in place of Faber and the Vike attack again began to function with Roemer and Feind doing most of the ball carrying.

Vikings Rally
Lawrence's different team in the second half. Half hearted tackling and blocking which was so apparent in the Pioneer march for a touchdown became hard and accurate. Time after time Faber, who played a great game backing up the line, slid through to stop the hard driving Carroll backs on the line of scrimmage. Gebhardt and Lund opened up beautiful holes and stopped the Orange backs as they attempted to drive through. Lawrence threatened when Feind received a punt and dashed through the entire Carroll team to the ten yard line, leaving several would-be tacklers on the ground wondering what had happened. The touchdown failed to materialize when "Smiley" fumbled and was tackled for a 12 yard loss. Vike passes were knocked down in the desperate attempt to score.

Coffey then blocked Jordan's punt but it kept rolling to the 48 yard stripe. Feind picked up ten yards with the aid of pretty blocking by Gebhardt and Keuther. On the third down with ten yards to go for a first down, "Gunner" Roemer cut wide of Haase and sped for the side lines outrunning three Carroll tacklers in his 85 yard dash to the goal. Feind missed the placekick.

In the closing minutes of play Otter threw one of his long passes to Hankley, who tried to catch it over his head but it slipped through his hands with a clear field ahead of him. Gallup, Schmidt and Carver played great ball in the line for Carroll with Otter and Hemp starring in the backfield.

The victory assured Lawrence of third place in the Big Four standings with one win and two losses. It was the second loss for Carroll at the hands of the Vikes, the other being a non-conference game played at Whitling field.

WARM BREEZES SEND GOLFERS TO COURSES

Taking advantage of the early September weather which visited Appleton yesterday, more than a dozen Appleton golfers hied themselves to Butte des Morts and other local courses and shot a couple rounds. Some of the boys found the going so pleasant they stayed out practically all afternoon and reported 27 holes played.

The only handicap to playing yesterday was the number of leaves that cluttered fairways through the woods.

Orange Has Battle On Hands In Wednesday's Charity Football Game

Kaws Have Much Strength; Appleton Failing to Support Project

APPLETON high school football team today began last drills for the Armistice day charity game with Kaukauna high school at George A. Whiting athletic field. The game will be played at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, high schools in both cities being dismissed so students can attend.

A number of Appleton gridders watched Kaukauna administer a whipping to Oconto Saturday afternoon and if there ever was any overconfidence among the boys it was knocked out in a most abrupt manner.

The Kaws displayed a big, heavy line that charged hard, a backfield that can run the ball just as well as it can pass the oval. The Kaws counted 34 points to 12 for Oconto, the latter markers coming late in the game when Kaukauna reserves were playing.

Appleton has been idle since the Mannette game Thursday which the Orange copied by a score of 14 and 7. The team failed to show much against the Purple and Coach Joseph Shields will have a lot of rough spots to knock off before the first whistle Wednesday.

Kaukauna students and townspeople are expected to flock here for the contest and indications are they may outnumber Appleton people. Kaukauna merchants have gotten behind the project and are selling many tickets. They also have decided to let one person run stores Wednesday afternoon so that other clerks can go to Appleton, watch the game and contribute to charity. Kaukauna expects to sell about 1,000 tickets, it is said.

Interest in Appleton hasn't been so keen, members of Oney Johnson's post of the legion who are helping push the project, reported Monday morning. Merchants in Appleton so far have failed to show much interest in the charity aspect of the contest and have indicated they were not in favor of closing their stores. Clerks and employees therefore have no interest in tickets for they can't use them anyway. A last effort to get stores to close was directed through the chamber of commerce Monday morning.

"Not only do we stand a good chance of losing Wednesday's football game because of the strength of the Kaukauna team, but indications are Kaukauna will sell many more tickets, proportionately, and will have a larger crowd in attendance," Herbert H. Holbie, high school principal and commander of Oney Johnson post of the legion said today.

Proceeds from the game will go to charity in Kaukauna and Appleton, expenses having been cut to a minimum.

KING LEVINSKY AND CARNERA MAY CLASH

Bout Needs Only Sanction of Illinois Boxing Commission

Chicago — (AP)—King Levinsky, powerful punching young Chicagoan, fighting Primo Carnera. That match was in the making today for the Chicago Stadium Nov. 19. Levinsky, the reformed fish peddler, has signed for the ten round bout. Carnera has agreed to terms and the only hurdle to be passed is sanction of the Illinois State Athletic commission.

Carnera is under suspension in states under jurisdiction of the National Boxing association because of a fine assessed against him by the Italian boxing union for failure to fulfill a contract to box in Italy. Carnera advises he is ready to pay the fine and will have a representative at the meeting of the commission today to post a bond guaranteeing payment.

Levinsky will be conceding the Italian Giant some 35 pounds, but offsetting this is the "King Fish's" excess amount of self-confidence. Carnera's fighting weight is about 250 pounds, with Levinsky weighing around 195.

The commission today will dispose of the case concerning Sammy Mandell, once lightweight champion of the world, who was ordered from the ring last Wednesday night by the referee in declaring his bout with Ralph Lenny, Union City, N. J., no contest.

The rules provide that in such cases the boxer's purse is forfeited and he is entitled to only $25 a day for the time he is in training in addition to traveling expenses.

The commission may decide that because of Mandell's previous record and the fact that he always has been a credit to the game, a less severe penalty may be inflicted. There has been no suspicion cast upon the honesty of Mandell's efforts, nor Lenny's either. It is regarded as a case of a worn out boxer attempting to do his best and of another boxer unfortunate to be in the same ring.

SECTIONAL GAMES HOLD GRID INTEREST ALL OVER COUNTRY

Georgia Meets Tulane, Notre Dame the Navy, Ohio the Badgers

BY HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time this season, sectional football competition will play second fiddle this week to strictly sectional combat with the south and east as the principal storm centers. The south, in fact, becomes the football capital of the nation, at least for a day, with the crucial encounters between Georgia and Tulane on the one hand, and Tennessee and Vanderbilt on the other. Georgia, Tulane and Tennessee all are unbeaten and untied while Vanderbilt, after accepting beatings from Tulane and Georgia, has come along in recent weeks. These two games not only will have a vital bearing on the Southern conference race but also will affect the mythical national standings in which the three unbeaten southern outfits rank close to the top.

In the east, in spite of such intersecting contests as those involving Notre Dame and Navy, Georgia Tech and Penn, and Washington and Lee and Princeton, far greater interest will center on a half dozen sectional struggles. Of the major unbeaten eastern teams, Cornell, Harvard, Syracuse, Fordham, Temple and Bucknell all face possible trouble.

U. S. C. Coast Champ
The Big Ten and Pacific coast conference titles virtually have been clinched by Northwestern and Southern California and apparently nothing can stop Utah from annexing the Rocky Mountain crown again. A wide open fight between Southern Methodist and Texas Christian features the Southwest conference and Nebraska, Iowa State and possibly Kansas State all have a chance for the big six championship.

Briefly here's the week's schedule and its possible effect on championship races:

East—Holy Cross trounced Harvard last year and may again for the Crimson must think of the Yale game a week hence. Cornell, also unbeaten, will find Dartmouth troublesome; Fordham will be tested to the utmost by New York university; Temple by Carnegie; Syracuse by Colgate; and Bucknell by Washington and Jefferson. Army and Navy will draw huge crowds, the first against Pitt at Pittsburgh and Navy against Notre Dame at Baltimore. The Army-Pitt struggle looks like a tossup but Notre Dame, with three straight wins over eastern foes, looks touchdowns better than Navy.

Tulane Vs. Georgia
South—Crucial games between Tulane and Georgia at Athens, Ga., and Tennessee and Vanderbilt at Knoxville will clarify Southern conference race. Seven other conference games on the slate pitting South Carolina against Florida; Sewanee against Auburn; Kentucky against Virginia Military; North Carolina state against Duke; Louisiana state against Mississippi; Virginia Poly against Virginia; and Clemson against Alabama.

Midwest—With Northwestern apparently "in" as Big Ten champs, interest centers on race for second place with five teams still having a chance. Northwestern meets Indiana and should win as it pleases. Iowa plays Purdue; Ohio State battles Wisconsin and Illinois encounters Chicago. Michigan goes outside the conference to meet Michigan State. Detroit, an independent, faces Villanova.

Pacific Coast—Northern section takes the spotlight with the Washington State-Washington and Oregon State-Oregon games. Southern California, far out in front, should romp through Montana as should California through Idaho and Stanford through Nevada.

Champs? Ripon Beaten 100 to 0

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State's brilliant football team, led by halfback Bob Monnett and liberally sprinkled with substitutes, ran wild over Ripon college Saturday, crushing the Wisconsin eleven by a score of 100 to 0. The Spartans planned and passed through the Ripon defense almost at will. Ripon's only scoring opportunity came in the fourth period after Liberty had fumbled on his own 20-yard line. Rowden and Schaum, reserve Ripon backs, carried the ball to State's one yard line in a series of plunges which apparently took the Spartans off guard. The threat passed when Ripon was penalized 15 yards.

Madison (AP)—The championship of the state teachers college football conference will be decided next Saturday when Whitewater meets Milwaukee on the latter's gridiron.

Manitowoc—For the first time since 1922 Two Rivers high school defeated Manitowoc high school in the annual football class 6 to 0 here Saturday. The game was a scoreless tie until the last few minutes of play. Then by a forward pass and a couple of line plunges the visitors went over the line. During the first half Manitowoc was never closer to the Two Rivers goal line than 35 yards while Two Rivers never stepped over Manitowoc's 40-yard line.

CHARITY GETS $10 AS SOCCER TEAM LOSES
Appleton charity fund will receive $10 from Appleton Sport club soccer team as result of a game played here Sunday afternoon with Oshkosh at the Third Ward field.

The Appleton aggregation took a good lesson in soccer football for its troubles yesterday and Oshkosh went home with a 3 and 0 victory. Playing sensational ball, the invaders had poor luck in the first half and counted but one goal. In the second period they outplayed Appleton both on defense and offense and counted two more markers.

Because no tickets can be sold for the soccer games the charity collection was the result of "passing the hat."

PACKERS TAKE TO AIR AND WALLOP STAPLES, 26 TO 0

National Champions Meet Cardinals Next Sunday at Chicago

GREEN BAY—(AP)—Wisconsin's professional league football team, the Green Bay Packers, resorted to a aerial game here yesterday to defeat the Stapleton club of New York, 26 to 0, in their last appearance of the season on the home field.

It was the ninth straight victory of the year for the Packers and the twenty-fourth successive win over a period of three years in games played at Green Bay. The Packers, twice crowned champions, hold undisputed possession of first place in this year's league race.

With the entire squad functioning smoothly in all departments of play, the Packers scored in every period, resorting to a variety of offensive tactics that outsmarted Ken Strong, Stapleton's stellar back, and a stubborn Stapleton line.

Johnny Blood, the elusive Packer back, again demonstrated his ability as a pass snarer and ball carrier by scoring two touchdowns. Verne Leveille, a veteran on the squad, was on the sidelines with an arm injury.

The Packers will play the Cardinals in Chicago next Sunday on the first stop of their annual eastern itinerary, playing New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia before returning again to Chicago to play the Bears in the final league game of the season.

Dive Scores On Pass

A pass from Fitzgibbons to Leveille for a 17-yard gain accounted for the first score in the opening period. On a fake from punt formation, Fitzgibbons completed a pass to Dillweg for the extra point.

In the second period, Saunders passed to Dunn for a 10-yard gain to put the ball on the 33-yard line. Dunn then threw a long pass to Blood, who ran to the goal line for a second touchdown. Dunn's attempted place kick for the extra point was wide.

Line smashes, with Bruder carrying the brunt of the attack, brought the ball deep into Stapleton territory in the third period. On a delayed pass play, Blood raced 25 yards around left end for a touchdown. Dunn kicked the extra point.

A lateral and forward pass play, Fitzgibbons to Blood to Bruder, was scored for a 50-yard gain and another marker in the fourth period. Bruder made a leaping catch on the 37-yard line and ran for the touchdown, evading one man and straight-arming another. A try for the extra point on a plunge failed.

Scores by periods:
Green Bay 7 6 7 6—26
Stapleton 0 0 0 0—0
Officials: Referee, Mayers Morris, (Rock Island); Umpire, George Lawrie, (Chicago); Head Linesman, Halsey Hall, (Minneapolis).

Amby Welsgerber was the big star in the contest hitting the maples for 669, 699, 683 and scores of 211, 237, and 261. Frank E. Raulf, 201, 184, 225, 257, C. T. Now had 573, F. Fries 373 and H. Currie hit a 215 in the second game and the margin was greater. In the third game a 211 by Mitchell was the big score. Mitchell had a 535 series.

PROTEST SOCCER GAME IN NATIONAL CUP PLAY

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Managers of the Sheboygan soccer team have announced they will protest a game played here with the Wackers yesterday in the first round of the national cup competition. The game was halted by the referee with the score 3-0 and 15 minutes to play.

The referee stopped the contest after he had been assaulted by a Wacker player who disagreed with a decision. Other players and spectators intervened to stop the fight.

The Milwaukee Deutscher Sport club defeated the Wackers, 3 to 0, in the other cup game. The Racine Vikings defeated Waukegan, 7 to 3. Waukegan defeated Madison, 11 to 4, in the regular Wisconsin State Soccer league games.

Wildcats Appear To Be Big Ten Grid Champions

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO—(AP)—Unless the biggest upsets of the Western conference football season have not yet been recorded, Northwestern's Wildcats can spend the rest of the campaign working on the business of becoming all-American selections.

Northwestern crushed Minnesota Saturday, 33 to 14, to remove the last high ranking threat from its path and now have only to take care of Indiana and Iowa on the next two Saturdays. Iowa and Indiana have a combined record of one victory and three defeats, along with a mutually owned tie and nothing they have done would lead to suspicion that either might upset the untamed Wildcats.

Beside the Northwestern-Indiana game Saturday, six other Big Ten eleven will meet in conference competition. Ohio State and Wisconsin participants in a four-way tie for third place in the ranking, will battle at Madison; Iowa will meet Purdue at Lafayette and Chicago and Illinois will stage their renewal at Champaign. Michigan, holder of second place, entertains an old, and often very troublesome foe in Michigan State college, while Minnesota will take a workout on Cornell (Iowa) College at Minneapolis. Notre Dame will make its second excursion into the east to meet Navy at Baltimore.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Chicago Bears just about pushed the Portsmouth Spartans out of the race for the National Professional league title yesterday by trimming the Ohio eleven, 9 to 6, at Wrigley field.

The contest was bitterly fought from the start. The first half ended in a scoreless tie. In the middle of the third period, a great kick by Dick Nesbit, former Drake star, travelled from the bear 15-yard line over the Spartan goal line to give Chicago a break. Tony Holm's return from behind his own goal line, was downed on his 33-yard line. The Bears made a first down, but could advance no farther and Luke Johnson place kicked from the 23-yard line. Just before the end of the period, Jesse Hibbs blocked Holm's punt on the fourth down and the Bears took the ball on Portsmouth's 15-yard line. Nesbit and Molevich took it to the five yard line as the period ended. Carl Furbush elected the Spartan's left end for a touchdown on the first play of the final period.

Portsmouth scored a few seconds later on a double pass. Schwartz to Presnell to McKelip, which accounted for 42 yards.

New York—(AP)—The New York Giants overcame southern resistance from the Philadelphia Yellowjackets yesterday and won their National Football league game by a 13 to 0 count.

Benny Friedman set the pace for the Giants. His 60-yard run in the first period paved the way for the initial score. Hap Moran carried the ball over on a 10-yard dash and kicked the extra point. Friedman made two passes good for the second score, tossing a long one to Red Cagle, then passing to Campbell for the touchdown.

Cleveland, O.—(AP)—Behind the spectacular playing of Ernie Nevers, the Chicago Cardinals humbled the Cleveland Indians 14 to 6 yesterday in a National Professional Football league game.

Nevers, the whirling, dangerous fullback of old at Leland Stanford, scored all of Chicago's points, running over both touchdowns and kicking the extra points. Both Cardinal scores came in the second period with Nevers paving the way by long passes to Craghton and Boyd. The Indians scored late in the third period when Yokary went through center on the fourth down after making about two of the necessary three yards in three previous plunges. Hoot Workman's try for the extra point was wide.

Nevers turned in an equally good performance in kicking and passing before a crowd of 10,000.

SOME KNOWLEDGE OF ACCOUNTING IS AID TO INVESTOR

Study Needed to Understand Financial Statements, Records

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
(Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press)

New York—No intelligent choice of securities can be arrived at without some understanding of the meaning of financial statements. It is not necessary to be an expert accountant or to be conversant with the way in which such statements are compiled from the books of the corporation, but it is essential that one have the ability to obtain a general idea of the progress and position of a corporation as it is set forth in its reports if one is to pass judgment on that corporation's securities.

In the discussions of which is the first, the attempt will be made to make the treatment as simple as the subject will allow. The success or lack of it each individual may determine for himself by applying the knowledge gained to the analysis of specific corporation statements as they appear on the financial pages of the newspaper.

There are two classifications into which all financial statements may be divided, one generally termed the balance sheet and the other the income account. The latter is the easier understood and is that read by the one to whom the average layman has the greatest attention. We shall begin, however, with the balance sheet. There is an old story in newspaper offices about the day the financial editor was sick and the section editor attempted to substitute for him. There was a corporation balance sheet to be completed upon and the editor, on his own, had no idea of the balance sheet. There is an old story in newspaper offices about the day the financial editor was sick and the section editor attempted to substitute for him. There was a corporation balance sheet to be completed upon and the editor, on his own, had no idea of the balance sheet.

It is not assumed that any of the readers of this article will be so simple minded as that section editor, and yet to make the record complete and to serve as an introduction to the balance sheet portion of the series it may be well to state that the reason that the two sides of the ledger balances is because that is the function of the balance sheet.

On the left hand side of the ledger, as in this country the assets are set down and on the right hand side the liabilities are presented. The assets consist of everything that the corporation owns or may be owing to it and the liabilities consist of everything the corporation owes, including what it owes to the owners. That is to say stockholders. The difference between these two totals is the surplus and that surplus added to the liabilities and set down under them on the right hand side makes the two accounts come out that is to say stockholders. The even and gives the statement its name of balance sheet.

WHO'S NEW IN CONGRESS

Gardner R. Withrow

LaCrosse, Wis.—(AP)—Gardner R. Withrow of LaCrosse once was a "railroader" and had every intention of working his way up in that occupation. Instead he was "sidetracked" into politics and now he represents the seventh Wisconsin district in congress.

Withrow was graduated from high school here, took two years' legal training and then became a railroad fireman, advancing to a conductor's job.

The late Senator Robert M. La Follette had a large following among railroad men in Wisconsin. Withrow met James Thompson, a LaFollette man, and Thompson interested him in politics. Withrow became his secretary.

After Thompson's death in 1921 Withrow entered the political arena actively and was elected to the state legislature in 1926.

In 1929 he defeated Merlin Hull for the post he'll now occupy.

Withrow, a republican, is one of the Wisconsin progressive faction that has warned regular republicans that their party's policy program must be considered or it will not support the regular republicans in organizing the house.

ing of a far material living, but you do not know how to be happy. You allow your mind to drift too much on the dark side of life and the little upon your blessings. You will never be satisfied with your lot. Your business aptitude is marked; your economic judgment is keen; your mind is fertile and your hands are capable. You are, however, too much of a skeptical, efficient machine to enjoy and appreciate those things which are essentially human. You are not when you give the spiritual ideas of existence. You are instead a cold, hard, and practical being. You must see and prove things. A hard battle is not enough to you.

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"

If November 10th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:15 a. m. to 10 a. m. from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 8:45 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 6:25 p. m. to 7:45 p. m.

Unexpected business troubles are foreseen for November 10th. Do not become panicky—a way out is clearly indicated if you move with care and caution! It is a fortunate marriage date, and a happy time for young lovers. Those who have inventive minds, will benefit by the astrological influences of the day.

The child born on this November 10th will have a cautious, an unselfish and artistic nature. It will always need encouragement and will not mind a friendly push. It will later work in partnership than through individual effort and it will be a grateful learner upon any one who will be its tutor.

Born on November 10th, Nature may be commended for the many gifts she bestowed upon you, but she was unkind when she handed you your disposition. You have all the qualifications essential to the making of a great man.

CHIEF JUSTICE ON CONVENTION PROGRAM

Milwaukee—(AP)—The constitution and its bearing on modern business will be discussed by Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry of the Wisconsin supreme court, at the annual dinner of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce here Nov. 17. Members of bar associations of the state have been invited. Others who will address sessions of the chamber are Prof. Paul Baenzel of Northwestern university who will discuss Russia's five year plan of economic development and its significance to the United States, and Charles F. Johnson, agricultural editor of the Minneapolis Tribune whose subject is "Agricultural Prosperity."

LADY with a PAST

BY HARRIET HENRY

Chapter 17
VENICE IN SEARCH OF MYSTERY

THE Louis-Le-Grand was a small hotel in the Rue Rouget de L'Isle, an abortive street between the Rue de Rivoli and the Rue Mont-Thabor.

Venice's room faced the great square of the Hotel Continental and she would stand in the low window and watch the comings and goings of gay mortals in their rooms across the narrow way. If she went out on the small balcony outside her window, no more really than a wide sill, she could see the hurry and bustle of the Rue de Rivoli.

Cables arrived from Uncle Livingston, Mrs. Spalding and Aunt Laura. They were all laden with sympathy and advice to sail for home immediately. Letters came from Lola and Nolly, written while the Muirs were still on the ocean. The former's communications never bore a date.

"Dearest Venice,"

"Jerry and I are engaged. We're going to be married next month, June nineteenth. Can't you come back to be a bridesmaid? It's all very exciting and every one is giving parties for us. The Schuylers had a knock-out last night. Rudy Vallee to play and what have you. I'm mad about Jerry and he is about me and I can't imagine why some people shake their heads and talk about the drabness of life.

"Did you catch yourself any promising males on the Acquitania?"

"Much love,"

"LOLA."

Venice fingered this epistle with a curious sense of detachment. Lola and her buoyant spirits seemed very far away and unimportant, like confetti thrown on New Year's eve.

The other letter, Nolly's, Venice opened more eagerly. Nolly with the peculiar sensitiveness of souls more or less closeted would offer her sympathy, never try to distract, as Lola probably would, with her own vital interests.

"May 8th.

"I miss you terribly. No one to tell me all the gay doings of the people we know and so I have no bits of gossip to give you at all.

"Did you read The Water Gypsies this winter? If you don't miss it, it's inimitable. Somebody said, Dickens after he had met du Maurier.

"Mother has made me a printed silk. Apricot color with little conventional black flowers. I really look quite Venice-ish in it and now that skirts are getting longer Pongo doesn't show so much. You're probably surprised at my sudden interest in clothes. It's Ernest Price, of course. Oh, Venice, I don't know whether it's pity or medical interest or what, but he comes to see me about twice a week. We have lovely talks and I can show him the insides of me. I hope some day he'll forget Pongo and regard me as a girl. You know what I mean, a girl like any other girl.

"He's trying to persuade mother and father to let some famous man he knows operate on me. He says if it does me no good it'll do me no harm and it's worth the trial. Mother and father are rather in favor of it but I'm not. I'm afraid I don't mind Pongo really and suppose I should die. I'll let you know if they decide to do it.

"Do tell me where you go and what you see. And don't forget to report the scalps you capture! Write me soon.

"From your loving,

"NOLLY."

Venice felt warmed and happier than she had since the night of her mother's death. Dear Nolly. Her letter took Venice out of the dull rut in which her mind was going back and forth and lifted her to the human contacts from which she had recently seemed quite apart. Ernest Price. He sounded like a grave young man. Could he overlook Nolly's infirmity? If he only would. And here was Nolly loving him and suffering a hurt and uncertainty that most girls could never experience. An operation! It would be wonderful if it were a success. But death, Venice from out her depressed state was caught with a tremendous fear for Nolly.

She was careful not to communicate this dread in the long letter which she immediately sat down to write. It was an enthusiastic epistle of encouragement and assurances as to an operation. Then she went on to all her own details of the last week. Her tears fell as she wrote. There was nothing harsh and bitter about her crying now. Just the gentle easing of grief in retrospect. Afterwards dropping the letter in a box across the street she felt a new lifting of her unhappiness. It was like a wound that had been opened and drained of its poison. Still sore but quite free of its inflammation and throbs.

She took a lengthy walk along the Seine and her senses, for the first time since her mother's death, absorbed impressions; the caressing, kind spring air; the sharp squawk of a French horn; small boats plying through the grey Seine; women washing clothes close to the water's edge, red flannel, blue denim, muddy white cotton; the patient fishers on the left bank.

Tomorrow she must go to the Cunard office and engage her passage home. Mrs. Muir's letter written to cousin Alicia Poe at Antibes had been returned that morning with no such address scribbled across its envelope in French. Venice had no friends or ties of any sort here. There was no reason for lingering on. Doctor (Nolly) had dropped from her ken as no many people who are kindness itself in the face of trouble but become invisible when the trouble passes.

Sitting in her bedroom that evening Venice's mind went toward the future with the first clarity it had registered in the past week. Back to New York again with that ever-present struggle to make herself attractive in the social whirlpool. It was what her mother would have wanted. Going to parties again, awkward and shy. Roland Wainwright, that dazzling young man, ignoring her with casual indifference, like the shrug of a shoulder. And Drake Farrelly who was a real person, kind because he sympathized with her. It was a dreadful, draining prospect.

She eyed the extravagant roses on the wall-paper with dreary pessimism. Suddenly a picture of Ann Duryea blurred the overgrown flowers with their unnatural purplish hue. She sat with her slim legs crossed high, dark, apathetic, not really clever or amusing. Men crowding about her were insistent in their efforts to gain her attention. They liked her because they were not quite sure what had gone on in her past. I'm better looking, thought Venice with miserable resentment. If only every one didn't know I'd always lived discreetly with my mother. And any one who likes my appearance at all grows discouraged when he talks to me. I'm so flat with my dull repartee and self-consciousness and conventional background.

Suddenly she clasped her hands with eager intensity. Her face went alight. Why shouldn't I stay over here six months and return with a manufactured past? I could hint at this and that. My reserved conversation would only appear a screenpost to hidden depths. I might actually try to do things here that I'd never done before. I will. I will! I'll show Roland Wainwright. I'll make him long to discover what he overlooked. I'll make Drake Farrelly think me the most desirable girl he's ever met. Not just a bundle of black velvet stuffs neglected on some stairs. I'll show everybody the girls that thought I was a dud, the men that never noticed me one way or another, the men that tried to be polite and thought they deserved a medal for their pains.

She went to bed tremendously excited.

Dear God, she prayed, help me to come home a mysterious and interesting woman. Please, dear God. She lay awake half the night planning how to work out this marvelous problem. Dawn brought no solution but she dropped asleep happy and anticipatory with the realization that there would return to New York a new and alluring Venice Muir.

Venice meets a man, in the next installment, who changes Paris for her.

KAUKAUNA WINS ANOTHER GRID GAME, 27 TO 6

Defeat of Oconto Marks Fifth Conference Victory for Little Team

Kaukauna—Oconto's Blue and Gold football warriors fell victims to Coach Paul E. Little's Orange Kaukauna high school team here Saturday afternoon, 27 to 6. The Littlemen romped through the Oconto tackles and skirted the ends to pile up a 27 to 6 lead at half time. Easily earning the right to be called the Galloping Ghosts, a moniker applied to the high school teams of several years back, the Littlemen secured their fifth conference victory before a large homecoming crowd.

Kaukauna piled up a total of 19 first downs to Oconto's 10. Most of Oconto's gains, however, were made on passes by Herold to the Winther twins. All of Kaukauna's long gains were made on off tackle smashes and end runs.

Schuler, Kaukauna quarterback, and Kuchelmeister, left halfback for the Kaws, were the best ground gainers. Schuler averaged seven yards to the plunges and Kuchelmeister five. Both worked good on defense.

The Winther twins were outstanding for the Blue and Golds. Herold was also a factor in the Oconto offense. Kaukauna scored its touchdowns in the first, second, and fourth quarters. Oconto scored the first touchdown of the game in the first quarter shortly after the start of the game. The last marker for the invaders came late in the fourth quarter after an aerial attack.

Oconto Scores First Herold skirted the Kaukauna left end to score the first touchdown in the first period, when two 15 yard penalties, one for holding and the other for tackling a player out of bounds, placed the pigskin on the Kaukauna nine yard line. Herold went around end to score, but was unsuccessful in his kick for extra point.

Kaukauna immediately retaliated, using straight football to march up the field to the Oconto two yard line where Kuchelmeister plunged the center of the line to tie the score. McCormick's kick for extra point was wide. The quarter ended in a tie.

Holding the Oconto backs for three downs, Herold was forced to kick to the Kaws. Immediately the march for the second touchdown started. Off tackle and center plunges put the ball on the invaders' 13 yard line, where Schuler, Kaw quarterback, skirted the Oconto left tackle. Schuler faked a kick and McCormick plunged through center for the point.

Kick to Scanlon and Koch got the tackle on the Oconto 25. Manuel broke through to throw Herold for a 10 yard loss. Herold kicked to the Oconto 38 yard stripe, where Meyer downed Schuler, Kaw quarterback. Kaukauna failed to make downs and booted to the Oconto 18. Herold booted to midfield. Ludke, threw a long pass to Koch who carried the ball to Oconto's seven yard line. Kuchelmeister plunged center for the marker after Van Dyke, fullback, and Ludke, quarterback, had tumbled the ball to the one yard line. Kuchelmeister plunged for the point.

Oconto Backed Up Oconto was being forced to play in their own territory for the remainder of the period. Again Herold, Oconto halfback, opened with a passing attack. This was immediately stopped when Kuchelmeister intercepted on the 35 and raced over the goal to bring the count to 26 to 6. Ludke passed to Koch over the goal line for the point.

In the third Kaukauna had a decided advantage, although neither team scored. Kaukauna scored five first downs to Oconto's two and lost a chance to score on the 10 yard Oconto line.

Off tackle smashes were weakening the Oconto front wall and Schuler broke through several times to add long gains for his teammates. Blocking on every smash was perfect. The smashes placed the ball on the Oconto 30 yard marker about the middle of the fourth period. Schuler passer to Kemp, who advanced to the invaders' 10 yard stripe. Two plunges through right guard by Judae, Kaw halfback, placed the ball on the seven. Schuler went off tackle for the last marker. He also carried the ball off tackle for the point.

Substitutes failed to hold Oconto and the Blue and Golds scored their touchdown near the end of the last period, when A. Winther plunged the center of the Kaukauna line to score from the one foot marker. Herold's kick for the point was blocked.

The lineup: KAUKAUNA: Sager, LE; Bodde, LT; Nielsen, LG; Weirauch, C; Vanervenhoven, RG; Nelson, RT; Koch, RE; Schuler, QB; Judae, LHB; McCormick, FB; Kemp, RHB. Scoring in the first quarter the Hollandtown team took a 7 to 0 lead when Gast plunged for the first marker. The Merchants retaliated in the second quarter when Van Drasek scored after he passed to Derus, placing the ball on the Hollandtown 10 yard line. A place kick by Segge-link was blocked.

CAUTION—MOTHERS! MANY COUGH SYRUPS CONTAIN DOPE! ..YES DOPE!

"Jackie was out in real pneumonia weather and caught a nasty-coughing cough. Immediately I put Jack to bed and started treatment with Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. It soothed and soothed him. The cough seemed to melt away." Mrs. W. Robt, 13604 Emily St., Cleveland, O.

MOTHERS—why take chances with children's coughs? Why risk using a dope-drugged cough syrup? End your child's cough quickly—but safely! Smith Brothers' Triple-Action Cough Syrup contains NO DOPE—nothing that could possibly be harmful—nothing that could upset a child's stomach. Instead of dope, "Triple Action" (an approved scientific principle) does the work. It (1) soothes the throat, (2) loosens phlegm, (3) clears air passages. Quickly even a hacking cough disappears!... Children actually like the taste of Smith Brothers' Syrup (husbands do, too!). Only 35c.
